

Hola a todos,

Lamento comunicar de mi renuncia "formal" a toda participación o activismo del Movimiento Zeitgeist. Continúa en mí el profundo sentimiento de Economía Basada en Recursos, pero no lo que se ha convertido este Movimiento o el Proyecto Venus. Este Movimiento se ha convertido en una dictadura con dos caras. Lo que se dice, no es lo que sus coordinadores predicán, comenzando por su fundador. Ellos rompen sus mismos protocolos, negándose a contestar cartas con legítimas preguntas, evitando una y otra vez de proveer respuestas definidas y transparentes a mucha gente, incluso PJ mismo. La pregunta que surge es: ¿porque?

Fui parte de un equipo lingüístico que luego de utilizar todos los recursos humanos del MZ se autoproclamo' "internacional", cuando he cuestionado la posibilidad de severos conflictos de intereses e interferencias con el Movimiento Zeitgeist, de sus coordinadores quienes son miembros del Proyecto Venus. Escribí respetuosamente cartas a PJ, y a los coordinadores globales, solicitando respuestas básicas y a cambio he recibido siquiera un reconocimiento de recepción, al menos por cortesía. En más de una oportunidad, la cortesía de contestar no formaba parte de sus "protocolos". A partir de esas cartas, pase a convertirme en un marginado, en un "trol" (para su conveniencia), porque no pude seguir adelante en ninguna actividad si esas preguntas claves no eran contestadas en primer lugar. Nunca fue mi política el caminar a ciegas ni aceptar órdenes.

Entonces ahora, en honor a la verdad, a la luz de los últimos acontecimientos ocurridos con todo el capítulo de Australia, me siento en el compromiso que el público conozca toda la verdad y que Peter Joseph junto a su Core Team responda públicamente a todas las preguntas que surjan. Como ejemplo, estos son algunos de los emails de intercambios epistolares entre gente del Core Team con Peter Joseph y su posición "no-oficial" ante el Proyecto Venus. Kari Mc Gregor (la ahora ex-coordinadora de Australia) los ha hecho público, para conocimiento de todos en Australia y la región del Asia-Pacífico. Considero que todos los capítulos internacionales tienen que saber la verdad y por ello debe ser compartidos. Quizas no sea David Zwolski quién aquí miente o distorsiona con un artículo publicado en la revista "Espíritu del Tiempo" después de todo o alguna que otra imprecisión no mal intencionada. Sus datos aparentan tener buenas fuentes. Así, bueno el tener conocimiento y hacer público de lo que PJ (figura pública) piensa del Proyecto Venus; y asimismo exhibir el REAL autoritarismo verticalista de la estructura oculta del MZ. Queda a juicio individual la libertad de exigir respuestas definidas a preguntas validas que se vienen ocultando a tanta gente.

Que cada uno saque sus conclusiones.

Por favor, a aquellos que les pueda interesar y que entienden Inglés, que ayuden a la traducción de todo el hilo que se muestra abajo.

La verdad JAMAS debe ser ocultada. Siempre debe ser publica y que, por su misma naturaleza, debe permanecer transparente, sobre todo siendo de un movimiento que se precia de ser de todos, para la humanidad y sin fines de lucro.

Algo que comparto totalmente y de corazón con las palabras de Kari y las razones también de mi alejamiento de este Movimiento:

... "All up - the best medicine, in my view, is for us to walk our talk and demonstrate that we have the integrity that others may perhaps lack.

Ultimately my stance is as follows:

I do think it's about what's right. What's right will determine what will ultimately work, not the other way round.

Everything I have done, and will continue to do, comes from a place of liberty - of the mind, integrity - of the spirit, and compassion - of the heart. The choices that guide my actions are conscious, yet

I will not relinquish the liberty of my free thought, the integrity that drives my direction, or the compassion that affords me the humility to offer sincere apologies for any harm I have caused. ..."Sucintamente a mi ver, la mejor medicina para todos nosotros, es caminar lo que decimos y demostrar que tenemos la integridad que quizás otros carecen.

En ultima instancia, mi posición es la siguiente:

Lo que pienso, es acerca de lo que es correcto. Y lo que es correcto es lo que determinara' lo que al final funcionara', no al revés.

Todo lo que he hecho y que continuare' haciendo, proviene de un lugar de libertad de mente, de integridad de espíritu y compasión del corazón. Las elecciones que guían mis acciones son conscientes, aun emergentes, como toda información es emergente. No renunciare' la libertad de mi libre pensamiento, la integridad que conduce mi dirección, o la compasión que me permite la humildad de pedir sinceras disculpas por cualquier daño que he causado. Por esas razones, de ninguna manera puedo continuar participando en un movimiento que refrena las tres"...

Esta publicación es a efectos de hacer público, lo que asumo debe ser de conocimiento público, justamente por tratarse de una organización internacional pública y sin fines de lucro. No existe en mi ninguna intención de causar daño alguno; y me disculpo anticipadamente si hay gente que se ofenda por ello. Solo comparto ampliamente el espíritu de una Economía Basada en Recursos, pero jamás aceptando "autoridades", preguntas respetuosas sin ser contestadas, ni órdenes de nadie.

Un abrazo afectuoso a todos los activistas, agradeciendo todo afecto y conocimientos compartidos. De un modo u otro -para quienes lo deseen- seguiré en contacto, aunque no en este Movimiento.

BTW - David and I have just been booted from the TZM Global Core Team google-group (which I originally set up). I transferred ownership of it to PJ last week, stating that I would leave it as soon as my work with the Colombia chapter review was complete. Seems he couldn't wait and no longer wishes for me to respond to all the questions directed at me by other members of the group...

When I stated, as I have done on numerous occasions now over the past few weeks, that I was afraid a witch-hunt against TZM Aus was on its way I knew most people would not take it on board. But now we will see events unfold before us like a bad dream. My Colombia chapter review is due tomorrow, and I am suddenly no longer a member of the group that will deliberate over the fate of the chapter. It appears to me a case of "discredit the witness". We will see that the Colombian chapter will be eliminated regardless of the outcome recommended by the review because my testimony will not be accepted in light of "recent incidents". I believe that if I were to remain a representative of TZM Australia or the Asia-Pacific region many would suffer collective punishment as a result of my questioning of TZM's internal structure. I will share further email threads pointing to this soon.

David,

Regarding the 118,000$ it was simply said in the radio show they did with Bakari Pace a few weeks back. They even said "its better this way because we dont have to pay ourselves". I laughed out loud.

The 2-3 years of donations funneled through to them from TZM.com with no accounting was never fully talked about, absent some $5000-$10,000 donations mentioned in passing. The 70k figure is an estimate I extrapolated given popularity and time. That cannot be proven and they have no transparency.

Frankly, you should ignore it. It's over. They pulled 118,000$ from the community for a "script writer" that isnt happening for fact and that money is doing nothing, clearly, and I suspect fresco will die and roxanne will bail on TVP. She is concerned about her retirement and needs the fresco name to survive. If they had any integrity, they would have put together a real team for action on their estate - a research center for real. They have space for huge work flows... I tried to get them to do that as well long ago. Fresco simply thinks no one understands enough.

This is just the nature of it and they are self-preserving...pathologically, in fact. I wouldnt think anything more about it- only to learn how such institutions corrupt and what to stay away from.

Peter

could you provide me a source for the info that TVP has pocketed the "major motion movie money"? It would be good to identify the source since i would like to write an angry email :D and i dont want to write it if that info is "internal", and make a fool of us.

tvp should seriously cover part of the movies costs....

it was fun to host the australian tour in 4 cities, and we sold all seats in all cities! we even made few grand of money for them from each event. Gosh... there was about 18k profit from sydney alone!

($35 a ticket times 600 minus 2k venue) and they proolly made, 50k or even 100k from the whole tour!

and now they pocket the 180k donations?!!!
Are you fu&#% serius!

im going to ram their scientific method pitch up theirs, once ill go to florida!

they should seriously have solar panels and omega gardens happening all over venus florida by now...

and they SHOULD pay part of the costs for the movies to PJ. period.

Typed and sent through a mobile phone.

I agree with PJ is pretty much an inversion for social happiness without cash return. I prefer members creating great projects on their own and appealing to a bigger community not just TZM.

Let's crowd source this inversion for social happiness. It's for all of us.

There is really no way to create such a medium, outside the basic platform we already have. As of now, I don't even make my annual budget for the website admin/hosting costs with the shirts and am down about -$35,000+ on event days alone

Still - I do not want to create that level of complexity on the global level. Either people have time or they dont. The trick is the "autonomous" nature of it where people are self- generating in their work and they fund their own stuff as they see fit within a reasonable degree - within the bounds of the major projects [ zday; zfest; townhalls ]

Only exception is the GLOBAL REDESIGN INSTITUTE which will need more $ as it will be the flagship project of TZM in many ways. A kickstarter for this might help for the programmers.

In the end, to express "fundraising" as "okay" on a larger level will indeed lead to abuse and to a level of disrespect that TVP has now achieved since they announced they are not even using the $113,000 ( plus the other $70k+ or so they pulled from TZM's audience with our site donation link for them) for a script writer and pocketing it. TVP is doing nothing. Money corrupts all institutions.

As I mentioned in the CORE meeting we had, again - this mission is about automation of issues and stopping emails and general questions outside requests for link changes; new chapters and the like - is the goal. The problem is not money- it is organization. This takes years...But ideally- everything is self-contained and once the new Guide is done (sorry) we will have more ease.

Hello ive posted this over on zmchapters group and ill paste it here in case some people miss it.

"In direct relation to the opening topic, to be honest i don't see a problem with it as long as TZM is not required to fund raise it or actively promote his project as part of its identity/goal.

Now, this is somewhat related to a series of other no so simple issues to communicate, and i want to make clear that what im about to write here, is just my personal point of view on the movement and how things could evolve.

I recognize the need to have more and consistent volunteer work in the movement something that having volunteers on the payroll could definitely help, however i can also understand the tendency that creating a institution can create space for corruption, self perpetuation and focus on monetary sustainability instead of actual progress.

Recently what ive been thinking about is extending the concept of movement projects funding to include volunteer time costs (not only materials). Such system would have to be very similar to what kickstarter is right now, where volunteers would come forward with their projects and seek funding from supporters that are unable to actively participate, such platform could also be of use to other type of projects that are not strictly educational (but still need to be somewhat related to it)

This way there is no struggle to control where the resources flow in, but instead let projects evolve based on their own merit.

Of course, there are many questions that need to be thought about first... But so far i think its one good option.

Even if we still take volunteer time out of the equation and focus only on materials it would still be a great help, as a big problem right now is volunteers having to donate both their own time and money to get something done.

The movement itself should not be more than a basic framework for education, spreading information and networking, the more we seek to evolve its identity the more restricted will become.

One of the reasons im active in the movement (aside from things making sense of course), is the fact that is not controlled by an institution or a political party but by a simple and necessary train of thought. Within this train of thought we could eventually define sub groups of how we achieve our goal, BUT to me what matters the most is that we still share the same direction. (Or else i could just have joined TVP activism)

I guess a good tip i could say is "Share constructive criticism not hate"

Take Care"
